Dear Senator Doyle,

In these tough economic times, it is difficult to stay afloat. With so many young people not being able to find jobs in their fields, it makes all of us vulnerable. I am concerned about the next generation.

Connecticut has one of the highest costs of living. I don't make minimum wage and I'm barely making end meets. I can only imagine how families live at the current minimum wage.

Senator, too many families just can't make ends meet in our state. Please support raising the minimum wage and in the end, we will all benefit from it. Thank you for your time.

Sincerely,

Kimberly Schuster
